

GOVERNMENT IS GIVEN JOLT IN PATENTS CASE

Reversal Shown By Frank
Polk Former American
Official

WITNESS NOT DUPED

Muscle Shoals Project
Reported Obstructed
at the Trial

Wilmington, Del., June 13.—The government's suit to recover 5,000 patents valued at $100,000,000 from the Chemical Foundation, received a jolt here when Frank L. Polk, former under-secretary of state, declared that he was familiar with the projected sale at the time he signed executive order authorizing it. Government attorneys were amazed at this reversal.

The government's case had been based largely on the contention that Polk had been duped and misled by the dye interests into signing the order. Assistant Attorney General Anderson declared that Polk had previously said he could not recall the circumstances under which he signed the order and that it was probably signed as a formal matter.

Anderson also said that John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, was present at the time Polk professed a lack of knowledge on the signing.

Polk came in for a severe grilling and cross-examination directed by Anderson. The former under-secretary of state admitted that he had not seen the charter of the Chemical Foundation at the time the order was signed, but that he understood it was designed to protect American dye and chemical industries.

Anderson then advanced the contention that Polk, after looking up correspondence on the subject, was able to recall the circumstances connected with the signing, the government was not bound by his testimony. He also attacked Polk's testimony on the grounds that Polk had stated that he understood that the United States would have first license to operate under any of the patents.

It has been shown at the trial that the Chemical Foundation obstructed the Muscle Shoals project by its refusal to grant a license for nitrate manufacture under one of the patents it holds. Documentary evidence has also been presented to show that the military establishment sought control of the nitrate patents for national defense and four times the amount the Chemical Foundation paid for the patents had been offered by the army.

DECLARES AMERICA FACES AGRICULTURAL SUICIDE IN HANDS

Emigration From Farm
Deplored By Senator Caraway of Arkansas

Washington, June 13.—America is facing agricultural suicide as a result of the loss of man power on her farms, Senator T. H. Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, declared today in urging governmental action to remedy the situation.

Unless the emigration from farms is stopped, Caraway warned, the nation will face a "stunning food shortage" within five years. He asserted he would sponsor remedial legislation in the next Congress.

"Fully five million persons will leave the farms this summer to find new places in the cities," Caraway said. "More than three million emigrated from the farms last year. Every one who has gone from the farm to city is a magnet drawing hundreds of others. Unless this emigration is halted, there will be stunning food shortages within five years and our farms will be idle."

Caraway proposed two legislative remedies for the situation:

- 1.—Admit sufficient immigrants to settle and operate all farms; or
- 2.—Provide a living wage for farm workers insuring them an adequate compensation for their products.

BALDWIN AT ISSUE WITH POINCARE ON GERMAN QUESTION

Will Not Ask Germany to Cease Passive Resistance

London, June 13.—Premier Poincare notified the British foreign office that he would not join an allied conference until Germany agreed to cease its passive resistance policy in the Ruhr.

Premier Baldwin has notified the French premier that he believes the German offer should be increased, but that there should be an examination of Germany's capacity to pay before the proposed allied conference decides upon the amount of the reparations.

A foreign office official said: "While the premier and Lord Curzon will do all in their power to effect a compromise the British government never will consent to ask Germany to abandon her passive resistance."

Great Britain, it was declared, was out for a sane settlement, along business lines. Premier Baldwin is anxious, however, to avert the calamity of an open break with France, and is exerting all his influence to bring Germany and France together. If nothing comes of the present move, the press and publicists of Great Britain believe that the prime minister acting in concert with Premier Mussolini of Italy, will negotiate directly with Germany for a settlement.

LARGEST CURB FIRM GOES TO WALL

William R. Jones Jackson B. Sells

Thirty-five millions in accounts and capital were involved in the failure of the New York Curb Exchange firm of Jones and Baker, of which William R. Jones and Jackson B. Sells were heads. The concern had branches in seven of America's principal cities, and its voluntary bankruptcy petition caused widespread consternation, for it did one of the largest brokerage businesses in the country. Jones, a former protégé of Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants baseball club, and is a close friend also of Judge McQuade and many influential politicians. The failure of the firm followed closely publication in the New York American that its affairs were under investigation.

HUGHES ASKED TO DEMAND THAT CHINA ACT TO END CONDITION

Shanghai, June 13.—The American Association of China and the American Chamber of Commerce following a meeting today united in cabling Secretary of State Hughes a demand that the United States government act to end "intolerable conditions" existing in China. The message charged that the situation was brought about by Washington's failure to act aggressively in the present crisis.

American lives are being endangered and business prestige destroyed by "lack of strong action" the message declared, outlining a series of drastic steps which were urged upon Secretary Hughes for imposition in China.

"We urge action along the following lines until a strong and satisfactory government is functioning in China," the message continues.

- 1.—Suspension of all benefits to China under the Washington conference.
- 2.—Disarmament, or troops returned to their homes.
- 3.—Place Chinese finance under foreign supervision and place foreign guards on the lines of communication, both land and water.
- 4.—Foreign garrisons at strategic points throughout China.
- 5.—Suspension of return of boxer indemnity.

GROTTO'S CAPTURE CLEVELAND AT MEET

Cleveland, June 13.—Selection of a convention city for the 1924 session of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, at the Grottoes—the playground of Blue Lodge Masonry are known—was the only important business awaiting action of the last day of the supreme council. Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Brooklyn, Boston and Atlantic City are all anxious to entertain the prophet's next year and a hard fight is in prospect.

While the selection of a meeting place will wind up the business, fun-making is expected to continue into the early hours of tomorrow. Prizes were to be awarded at public hall to night, and an informal ball, to which everybody who can gain admittance will be invited, will bring to an end three days that mark the high lights in the lives of thousands of visitors.

Revoluntary troops engaged the bodyguard of former Premier Alexander Stambulsky. Casualties resulted but the outcome of the skirmish is not known. A report from the Bulgarian frontier just before noon said 300 members of the bodyguard had surrendered. A later dispatch mentioned the fray but made no mention of any surrenders.

INSANITY PLEA
WINS FREEDOM
Cincinnati, June 13.—"Not guilty, on the sole ground of insanity," was the verdict returned last night in the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court by the jury hearing the first degree murder case against Charles Baldwin of Bellevue, Ky.

The jury, which included five women, deliberated for five hours. Its verdict means that Baldwin will be examined in probate court by alienists and if found to be insane at present will be sent to the Lima State Hospital for Criminal Insane.

Baldwin testified at the trial that he killed Louis Hameck, a fellow worker at a factory, because the latter had abused him daily and made him the "company goat."

FOREIGN SHIPS MUST OBSERVE U. S. DRY LAWS

Crews Will Not Be Permitted to Have Liquor
In American Waters

TREASURY RULES

Instructions Are Issued To Medical Officers By Government

Washington, June 13.—Treasury department officials made it clear that they would not countenance any evasion of the ship liquor regulations to meet the wine rations issue involved under the French, Spanish and Italian maritime laws.

Public health service physicians, it was emphatically stated, would not be permitted to authorize wine for the crews under the medicinal liquor exemptions provided in the regulations. This announcement came in answer to a report from New York that Prohibition Director Canfield had suggested this as a way out of the wine ration situation.

For five weeks the treasury heads entrusted with the handling of the ship liquor problem debated this wine ration question, but were unable to find any way out to avoid the conflict with the foreign ship laws that this phase of the dry ship ruling has precipitated. The result is that the crews must go wineless while in American waters and when they leave American ports.

Special instructions issued public health service physicians by Dr. M. J. White, acting surgeon general of the service, direct that the medical officers exercise the utmost discretion with respect to the quantity of liquor to be authorized to be purchased by masters of foreign vessels. This matter, the instructions state, is one which must of necessity be decided upon its merits by the medical officer at the time of issuance of the certificate of medicinal need.

The owner of the vessel applying for a permit to purchase medicinal liquor must make his application under oath. Only medical officers in charge of marine hospitals or relief stations of the public health service are permitted to issue these permits.

Congress will be asked to deal with the difficult problem facing the American government as a result of the ruling by the supreme court on ship liquor, it was stated authoritatively at the White House following cabinet meeting.

President Harding, it was learned, believes that congress never intended to compel the executive branch of the government to deal with the situation created by the court's opinion that foreign vessels entering the three mile limit may not transport liquor for beverage purposes. On the other hand, with the law and the ruling both made, the president feels that the executive has no choice but to enforce to the limit regulations carrying out the action of congress and the opinion of the supreme court.

RE-ISSUING OF OLD FILMS RAPPED

Washington, June 13.—The Federal Trade Commission took another rap today at motion picture companies which re-issue old films under new names.

An order to cease and desist from such practices was issued against the Fox Film Corporation of New York. The commission said the Fox corporation had "unjustly to exhibitors three re-issued picture films bearing titles different from those used at the time such pictures were first shown to the public, and that the advertising material in the exploitation of the pictures did not disclose in any way that they had previously been shown under another title."

In putting out old films, the commission said companies should state in their advertising posters and contracts that the film was re-issued, and that the original name should be given.

Rail Labor Board Not Likely to Survive

Samuel Rea

Open defiance of the Railroad Labor Board by the Pennsylvania Railroad, coupled with the fact that the Board apparently has accepted this defiance in meekness and humility, has led official Washington to believe that the Board cannot endure much longer. The official execution, according to plans now being perfected by its enemies, will take place soon after the new Congress convenes. Labor is better because of the manner in which the Board has accepted the flat refusal of Samuel Rea, Pennsylvania president, to abide by that body's decisions, and its spokesmen have pointed out that when rail shopmen refused last year to accept an award lowering their wages the Board branded the shopmen's organizations as "outlaws."

NEARLY 1,500 END COLLEGE WORK AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Forty-sixth Annual Commencement Is Held On Tuesday.

Columbus, June 13.—A clear bugle call echoed through the Coliseum yesterday. In the brassy note resounding from the stone 1480 students heard the last echo of university life.

The bugle call marked the end of the forty-sixth annual commencement exercises of Ohio State University, at which the largest class of students in the history of the institution received degrees.

Crowds of spectators, about 6000 in all, attended the exercises. On the great stage, surrounded by flowers, were seated Governor Donahoe, President Thompson, the deans of the 10 colleges and of the graduate school, administrative officers of the university and the principal speaker of the day, Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

Upon another stage, in the arena, were the graduates, clad in the conventional caps and gowns. Only the brilliant tassels, of varied colors, distinguished one college group from another.

Leonard led the traditional procession, which began at 10 o'clock. President Thompson, President Coffman, Governor Donahoe and the members of the faculty followed.

When the various honors had been bestowed and the degrees granted, President Thompson called upon former Governor James E. Campbell to arise from his seat on the platform. President Thompson then read a commendation of Mr. Campbell of his record as a soldier, governor, citizen and friend, and especially as a benefactor of Ohio State.

Awards of honor made yesterday are: Robert F. Wolfe journalism medal to Karl B. Pauly; Vandewater poetry prize to Dorothy M. Reid; Chi Omega prize to Anna M. Murray; Colonel John Gordon Rattle prize to Samuel H. Ruggles; Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key to Ralph E. Hickey; Bingham memorial award to Florence L. Eberhard.

LEGION OPPOSES DEBS' APPEARANCE

Cincinnati, June 13.—Protest against the proposed lecture of Eugene V. Debs, former convict and socialist leader, at Music Hall, June 14, was filed last night when the Robert E. Bentley Post of the American Legion passed resolutions against the proposed meeting and called on those in authority to deny the use of Music Hall to Debs "on the ground that he is un-American."

Interest entered on the action to be taken, and when resolutions by Robert W. Smith and Gilbert Bettman were presented the vote was unanimous in their favor.

PRESIDENT OF CHINA FORCED TO FLEE CITY

Departure of Li Yuan
Hung Follows Strong
Threat

FENG IN CONTROL

Flight Is Second Abdication Since Year 1916.

Peking, June 13.—Withstanding until noon today the military pressure that has been brought to bear to force his resignation, President Li Yuan Hung at 1:20 this afternoon departed on a special train for Tien Tsin accompanied only by the vice minister of war, one other member of his old cabinet and 30 soldiers as a guard.

His departure was preceded by a strong threat from the Christian general Feng Jui-Siang who requested his immediate departure from Peking.

Complete occupation of the city by General Feng's troops is expected at any moment. The city remains quiet.

The flight of President Li Yuan Hung from Peking marks his second forced abdication as president at the hands of the Chinese military since he succeeded to the presidency in 1916, when President Yuan Shih-Kai died. A few months later, Chang Hsun, through a military coup, seized the capital, forced Li to flee to Tien Tsin and restored the "boy emperor" to the throne. A week later this movement failed but Li remained in retirement until last year when General Wu Pei Fu after defeating Chang Tso-Lin's effort to seize the capital proposed a return to "constitutional government."

Li resumed his old office, reconvened the old parliament and set about curbing the militarists. Quickly friction developed and cabinet after cabinet resigned. Finally came the Shantung bandit outrage, the police strike and finally the entrance of General Feng's troops to Peking. Repeatedly Li appealed to foreign diplomats for advice but was told the foreign powers would not interfere in China's domestic affairs.

THREE MEALS COST UNCLE SAM BUT TWENTY SEVEN CENTS

Washington, June 13.—Three good, square meals, week in and week out, at a total cost of 27 cents a day—that is the fare of the doughboys in Uncle Sam's Army.

While the American housewife has been struggling tearfully to make her weekly budget produce an adequate breakfast, dinner and supper, the quartermaster corps has succeeded in bringing the army ration allowance down to a figure actually lower than pre-war days it was learned today.

While the housewife has been paying from 40 to 100 per cent more for her meats, bread and vegetables than she did in 1913, the army is able to set a whole day's table for only 26 cents more than was the cost in 1913.

The 1923 ration allowance just perfected is the lowest in eight years. Cost per ration of feeding the army for the past ten years, in cents, is as follows:

1913, 33.4; 1914, 24; 1915, 25; 1916, 28; 1917, 33 1918, 48.2; 1919, 49.8; 1920, 54; 1921 47; 1922, 32.8 and 1923, 27.

In addition to making the inherent thrift of the American housewife appear futile, the United States ration is better than that of other nations. Taking into consideration the fluctuation and instability of foreign currency and exchange, a fair estimate of the cost of feeding each man in the allied armies is as follows:

Italy 50 cents; Great Britain 45 cents; France 33 cents and Japan with its rice diet from 21 to 41 cents, dependent upon the location of the troops.

The quartermaster corps is able to feed the doughboys at nine cents a meal for three reasons: It buys only at the height of the season; it buys only where the production is greatest and it discounts all bills.

While 27 cents wouldn't buy the average Mr. Citizen much more than two sandwiches and a cup of coffee, the soldier gets his in courses, almost literally, from "soup to nuts." Here is a fair sample of the daily army camp menu picked at random:

Breakfast: Corn flakes and milk, stewed potatoes, fried bologna, butter-toast or bread, and coffee.

Dinner: Roast beef and sage dressing, boiled potatoes, brown gravy, creamed carrots, bread, coffee and bread pudding with lemon sauce.

Supper: Beef stew, with vegetables, fried potatoes, bread, coffee and stewed peaches.

No menu is repeated within a week, and, unlike boarding house style, the menu does not even rotate on a weekly basis.

What Business Owes to the Christian College

Chief Justice Taft on his return to America from four years' service as Director-General of the Philippines said that American business owes its opportunity to develop the resources of the Orient to Christian Missionaries who first blazed the trail and helped create those conditions which make it safe to do business there.

Roger Babson, the Statistical Expert, says: "The need of the hour is not more factories or materials, not more railroads, steamships, not more armies or navies, but rather more education based on the plain teaching of Jesus.

"I say this because we shall probably never live to see America attacked from without, but we may at any time see our best institutions attacked from within, —Yes, the safety of our Nation including all groups depends on Christian Education."

What Has Ohio Wesleyan Done To Merit Your Financial Support

Ohio Wesleyan is rich, not in buildings and endowments, but in men and women that she has sent into these many fields of useful endeavor.

1 Vice President	200 Journalists	400 University Deans and Professors
9 Governors	404 Lawyers	200 High School Principals
12 U. S. Congressmen	721 Physicians	1200 Teachers—Grade and High Schools
15 Foreign Ambassadors	1485 Business Men	9 Methodist Bishops
228 Government Service	30 College Presidents	300 Foreign Missionaries
	1000 Ministers of the Gospel

Who can place a money value on the accomplishments of these Alumni and who can estimate their priceless worth in business, in the various professions, in statesmanship, in Christian Ministry, and in all forms of social, philanthropic and missionary service?

The Best Investment You Can Make

This type of human service has not given many of them an opportunity to acquire wealth, but in turn, they have done the kind of work in the World that makes it possible for others to acquire it.

That is why a Christian College like Ohio Wesleyan must depend upon sources of wealth outside of her immediate constituency.

That is why Ohio Wesleyan must appeal today to business men and women to invest their dollars in this great school that for 80 years has combined education with character building, to produce higher business credit, greater economic savings, and a finer type of citizenship.

Styles BY LENORE

Everybody wears something "printed," but very few models have the charm and spirit of youth of these little frocks. Both are designed on the simplest of lines, all their beauty being derived from the delightful character of the material and the not at all complicated but exceedingly clever treatment with silk in solid color.

Blue being the predominating color of the design at the right, solid blue is used for the sharp-pointed panels on the skirt, the same idea suggested on the sleeves. In the lower frock the deep triangular pockets, which flare gracefully above the slender ribbon belt, are of cerise taffeta, made ingeniously ornamental by applique of the small motif which figures in the pattern of the silk. Of course these designs may be carried out in cottons, printed or plain, with contrasting color for trimming.

PAVING WORK WILL BE COMPLETED IN SHORT TIME NOW

If good weather favors workmen employed by the Republic Asphalt Company on the North Detroit Street paving job, the work should be finished by the first of next week, according to City Manager S. O. Hale.

Workmen are now on the last leg of the distance, laying and rolling the top coat of asphalt. The west side of the street was finished last fall and the last stretch of unfinished work is on the east side at the south end of the newly paved section. An entrance way into Fairground Avenue, company building, the original North Detroit street paving, is also being laid.

In addition to this finishing work, the company has to relay a section on the north end of the west side, which has been torn up. The top coat was put on last fall when the weather was unfavorable and could not be rolled properly. This spring the top coat at that section was torn up for a distance of about 500 feet and a new top asphalt layer will be put down when workmen have completed the east side of the street.

Intentions of the paving company to continue the laying of the stone road along the right of way of the Springfield and Xenia Traction Company, which has been moved to the center of the street, along the paved section, were frustrated when the workmen ran out of stone.

Large sized crushed stone is being laid as a base between the car rails, and smaller stone on top. Part of this top layer has been applied when the workmen ran out of material, and this work will have to be finished before the street is turned over to the city.

After the small stone is rolled, a bituminous binder material will be added to the top coat, giving the roadway between the tracks the same substances as bituminous macadam road.

The paving is from the old corporation line at Fairground Avenue, where the brick paving ends, to the new north corporation line and covers practically the entire distance to the Xenia Country Club. The new paving also increases the appearance of this entrance to the city.

LONDON AGHAST AT EXCAVATIONS FOR POCAHONTAS.

Another storm of protest over the exhumation of long forgotten dead has greeted the attempts of scientists seeking to recover the remains of the Indian Princess Pocahontas.

Edward Page Gaston, of Chicago, the archeologist who led the modern excavating party which attempted secretly to unearth the bones of the Indian princess, was threatened for his pains by indignant Britons whose forebears lie buried with the legendary savior of Captain John Smith. Some of them declared that, if Gaston violated their dead, he would be cursed by evil spirits.

London antiquarians are aghast at what they called the twentieth century vandalism which has prompted a committee of Americans to open an old tomb in Gravesend churchyard in search of the bones of Pocahontas. The church register records Pocahontas' burial at Gravesend, but the exact spot long has been a matter of speculation and the identity of her bones is not likely to be established by bringing to the surface a hundred skeletons.

A London paper describing the excavations said that the grave diggers "brought up bucket after bucket of bones, which were sorted into heaps on the grass. Skulls lay in one heap, thigh bones in another and so on." Having brought the gruesome contents of the tomb to the surface, various skulls were selected for measurements in the expectation that racial characteristics would reveal whether one of them once adorned the shoulders of the romantic Indian maiden.

London opinion is skeptical that anything of historical or sentimental value can come from such foolish activity and is asking whether the dead have any rights even in their own graves. One paper refers to the whole enterprise as "body snatching."

HE FOUGHT WITH A SMILE.

The loss of Claude Kitchin to the Democrats in the next House will be almost incalculable. Twenty-two years of service had made him one of the best parliamentarians in the lower body of Congress. On the floor he had command of the innumerable devices necessary in such a fight.

He fought always with a smile even when launching his bitterest blows. That was a self-cultivated style on the part of the North Carolina member. He acknowledged himself that as a younger man he had an exceedingly fiery temper.

On one occasion while practicing law the decision in the case went against him. His first impulse was to clean out the court. He realized just in time what the consequences would be if he yielded to the desire. He said afterward it was the last time that he let his temper get the better of him, and so far as any one could tell he succeeded in holding it well in check.

His hold on the leadership was threatened when he refused to vote for the declaration of war. Later he achieved fame, in much the same way that Thomas R. Marshall did in mourning the five-cent cigar, by demanding that the Nation return to the days of the two-dollar shirt. Mr. Kitchin during debate on the War Tax Bill said he had never paid more than that, and insisted that such an article of wearing apparel was a national necessity.

KNIGHTHOOD IN SWEDEN IS SLOWLY DYING OUT.

Knighthood is still in flower in Sweden, although the petals are falling one by one. This sentiment is suggested by the fact that the assembly of nobles which comes once every three years, has just been held in the historic Hall of Knights, attended by scions of counties and baronetcies many hundreds of years old.

The chamber of nobles, as such, has not been active in Swedish government since 1886, and scarcely any titles have been created since that time. Statistics soon to be printed show that there are at present in Sweden 52 lines of counts, 135 baronial lines and 485 other titled families. During the last generation about 125 different lines have terminated. It is a law in the chamber of nobles that a line ends if the family holding the title changes its nationality.

Thus many emigrants to America and other countries have sought new fortunes at the price of old titles. It is also a law that a Swedish aristocratic house must be declared extinct when there has been no male birth in it during a period of 90 years.

Swedish nobility had its origin, probably in the Twelfth century, in privileges awarded for military service, and a great number of titles were created during the first half of the Seventeenth century by the famous King Gustavus Adolphus.

A few years after his death was built the beautiful Hall of Knights, where the assemblies are now held. With its curiously carved copper roof, its walls hung with gorgeous armorial bearings, it is one of the show places of the capital.

The Swedish nobles of today are great patrons of arts and sciences. Many are found in military and political posts, while others engage in model farming on their estates.

THE INFLUENCE OF A QUIET LIFE.

The Kansas City Times, in speaking of the death of Joseph W. Folk, calls attention indirectly to the fact that some of the greatest and most influential persons who have ever lived in this country have never been given high office or other public recognition of their work. The question has often been asked of Mr. Folk why he did not reach a higher place politically, and there are those who would conclude that it was due to lack of ability.

So far as he impressed the life of his generation Mr. Folk did it by arousing the public conscience. No one could do a more valuable thing than this. He was evidently sincere in his desire for integrity in public life, as he made little or no effort to capitalize his work in an effort to secure material reward for himself.

Real greatness is less concerned in finding a place in the limelight than in helping the community to find proper ideals. It may be that Mr. Folk and many others like him will never have a large place in the written history of the future. It is the devotion of these quiet workers for civic righteousness, however, which is building a great nation. In this kind of work there is a place for every citizen, regardless of his position. He is great who lives greatly in the circle of his own influence, not he who wins the largest headlines in the newspapers.

THE NEXT SUBJECT FOR DISCUSSION WILL BE: "WHERE SHALL WE GO FOR OUR VACATION?"

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The seventh annual commencement exercises of Cedarville College began Thursday night, June 4, with diploma night by the Philosophic Literary Society in the new R. P. Church.

Xenia is coming to the front in the way of stores. Mr. C. Kelble, the West Main Street clothing and shoe merchant, has rented the large store room next door west of his present store and will occupy the two rooms. Reports reached Xenia at noon today that a dreadful accident occurred on the D. and X. traction line by the collision of two cars, near the Ankeney road crossing. The report was that several persons had been killed but this was soon disproven and the only person injured in the accident was Motorman Wilce Darney, who had his leg crushed.

THE LIPS

There are two seasons hard on the lips, mid-winter with its frost, and mid-summer with its intense heat. Some people have chapped lips more often in summer than in winter.

That's why I advise lip sticks. No the colored kind; lips with even a faint red do not need them and pale lips look artificial when painted. It is almost always possible to stick with white cream; in fact I've found that they're usually half the price. If you can't find them, buy as light a red as you can. The cost is sometimes 15 cents, sometimes a quarter, but the colored sticks are usually half a dollar.

They're made of a specially firm cream, nicely perfumed, and if they have any taste at all it is a pleasant one. As one stick will last a year, if by any chance you can't find what you like, rub the lips at bedtime with a little warm cocoa butter. It's so heavy and oily that it won't rub off as an ordinary cream would, and its taste, which you're bound to get, is not bad at all. Unless the lips are quite bad, flesh building cream will do; cleansing cream isn't much good; it's too light. Cream rubbed on before going out, or the lip stick applied last thing when you're dressing, will save many cases of chapped and broken lips.

It's a good thing to harden the lips if they're too sensitive. One way is to bathe them with salt water every day. At the same time rinse the face with salt water. It's such a good astringent. Camphor cream sometimes heats and hardens sensitive lips, so does alum water, a weak solution of course. The ordinary saturated solution of boric acid is healing and soothing for lips chapped by frost or sun, or even by a feverish chill in the head. This is made by adding boric acid powder to luke warm water until it begins to settle at the bottom of the bottle and won't dissolve.

Discouraged—Your oily hair and oily skin probably come from the same cause. Such a condition usually means that the system is so clogged that the skin is being overtaxed in attempting to throw it out. Drink more water, substitute coarse grained wholewheat or bran bread for that from white flour, omit meat or take very little of it, giving preference to a vegetable diet. If you drink plenty of milk in addition you will not feel the need of any richer food and your skin and hair will show the benefit.

Dolly Sisters—Thin wrists may be developed by massaging them with a rotary motion or by taking up any form of exercises that brings all the muscles into use. It is best to let the nose alone and cultivate other features.

THE GREATEST MANAGER.

Everyday we are given pictures of a man who has become notable as a manager in business and great affairs, but who has as notably failed as his own manager.

It is so much easier to make money than it is to make character.

And there are many men who are good managers for others and poor managers when it comes to their own affairs.

So that the greatest manager of all must be the man who understands himself sufficiently to manage aright all that he has, or may accumulate.

And this isn't a selfish goal at all. What an inspiration is that man who holds his spirit in check, who knows how to say unkind things—but doesn't whose passion might rise to tremendous proportions, but whose hands are so steady on the reins that he stalks 100 per cent man.

Why shouldn't a man who is able to control his own spirit be greater than he who would take a city?

To take a city would mean, in nearly every case, destruction, heartache, wanton disregard for that which is beautiful—but to control one's own spirit means increased power, a fortified hope, and influence.

By opposition are we spurred and prodded.

It is the defense that we offer under the direct discouragement that measures our hope of success.

Others may suggest and offer a kind and generous hand—but you alone are the final arbiter and the captain of your soul.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone

CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 194% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.

W. C. T. U. TO HOLD ALL-DAY MEETING FRIDAY JUNE 15

The program of the all-day institute of the Xenia W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. John Dymond, Washington and Monroe Streets, Friday, is being announced.

The session will open with devotional exercises at ten o'clock led by Mrs. Emma Anderson. Music will be given by Dorothy Crawford and Imogene Heaton.

A round-table discussion on "Why I'm a White Ribboner," will be the next feature, followed by a discussion, led by Mrs. W. O. Custis. The chief feature of the morning session will be a talk on the local playground movement, by F. H. Young, of the National Playground and Recreation Association.

Following the noon-tide prayer and luncheon, with a social time, devotionals will mark the opening of the afternoon session, led by Mrs. James Curlett. A musical number will be given by Miss Lucile Denham, and Miss Mary Noble. The Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, will give a talk on "Christian Citizenship" in Politics, which will be followed by a discussion.

A musical number will be given by Miss Imogene Dean, and Miss Ema LeMar. Mrs. D. W. Cosley will give a talk on her trip to Honolulu, last year. A reading by Miss Hazel Ary and a talk by Miss Mary Ervin on "An Hour With the Children," will close the session.

A cordial invitation to attend the all-day meeting is extended to everyone.

HOPE TO COMPLETE WORK THIS WEEK

If the weather will permit, workmen for the Loyd Contracting Company, who are establishing sewer and water accommodations in the first tract of the Dodds Addition will complete their work this week.

Completion will mean that sewer and water lines are established along all streets in the initial subdivision, first plat, accepted by the city when the Dodd addition was opened up, and that these utilities are now available for prospective builders in that section of the city.

The work was done by practically every lot owner in the district asking for the improvements. Addition of water and sewer connections is expected to be a stimulus to building in the sub-division, lot owners having declared they would not attempt to build until the utilities were available.

SOME BIRD AT LEAST THAT'S WHAT SHERIFF MORRIS SHARP SAYS

Sheriff Morris Sharp has added a stuffed pheasant to the menagerie of taxidermy he is establishing in his office in the Court House.

Recently Sheriff Sharp brought a huge stuffed eagle to the office and used it for decorative purposes on top of the office safe. The eagle was shot in Fayette County some time ago and mounted.

Monday he was made the gift of the mounted pheasant presented him by Fred Chaney, of near Jamestown, who killed and stuffed the bird himself. The pheasant has been posed on the safe so that he keeps a wary eye on his well-known enemy, the eagle.

BURGNER NAMED SECRETARY OF PLAY

Coach Earl Burgner, director of athletics and teacher of chemistry at Central High School during the last school year has been made executive secretary of the Community Recreation Association in general charge of all playgrounds to be established here this summer.

While the executive secretary will have general charge of the playground work, directing supervised activities at all centers, there will be subsidiary leaders in charge of each of the playgrounds. Thus a paid leader will be assigned to the Willowtree Playground and surrounding territory, another will be assigned to the Orient Hill School playground and as soon as park locations can be obtained in the north and west sections there will be paid leaders for each.

The East Community Service Association is planning to open playgrounds as soon as possible and they will also be in charge of paid leaders.

WEEDS MUST BE CUT IN THE CITY

Have weeds, growing on your premises, been cut?

This duty will have to be performed at once under an order from the City Department of Health, which will be enforced immediately under Sanitary Policeman H. L. Karch.

The Health Department is assuming the burden of seeing that weeds are cut this year in place of the Police Department which has enforced this city ordinance in the past. Health officials say that high weeds are breeding places for dirt, filth and germs besides being unsightly.

Empty lots and alleys are included in the order to cut weeds.

GREENE COUNTIANS RECEIVE DEGREES FROM WESLEYAN

Delaware, June 13.—Miss Dorothy Mary Faulkner, near Xenia, received her bachelor of arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University at the seventy-ninth annual commencement exercises held here this morning. Miss Juanita Milred Bullock, Jamestown, is another Greene county student graduating this year from Ohio Wesleyan.

President John W. Hoffman of Ohio Wesleyan, presided at the exercises and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Eoston, delivered the commencement address, the occasion being the thirty-fourth anniversary of his own graduation from Ohio Wesleyan. The exercises this morning brought to a conclusion over four days of graduation festivities featured by the presentation of a pageant "The Pioneers of Prophecy" written and acted by students of the university; an open air production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" by the Ohio Wesleyan Histrionic Club; the annual luncheon and reunions of many classes.

The graduating class was composed of nearly 300 students from 27 states and 6 foreign countries. Students from 122 Ohio towns and cities were included. The states represented by this year's graduating class are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. The Chinese lead among the foreign students with 6 graduates while Korea is represented by 4, Algeria, France, Japan and South America are also represented.

LOCAL MAN IS AWARDED HONOR

Hugh McFadden of this city was elected a trustee of the Military Order of the Serpent, an organization affiliated with the Spanish War Veterans at the state convention of the latter with its women's auxiliary at Cedar Point, Tuesday.

Members of the Military Order of the Serpent paraded the streets of Sandusky Tuesday evening attired as Philippine head hunters. The annual parade of the veterans was held at Cedar Point Tuesday afternoon with more than 1,000 in line. Former Governor Harry L. Davis and Carmi Thompson of Cleveland were speakers at Tuesday's sessions.

The election of the local man to office in the Military Order of the Serpent took place at the annual election of officers of that organization, Tuesday.

AMERICAN GOLFERS FAIL TO QUALIFY IN BRITISH MEET
STRANGELY, DEMPSEY EXPECTS TO WIN

"ZERO" HOUR FOR TOURNEY NEAR

Troon, Scotland, June 13.—The day before the "zero" hour, when competition for the coveted British open golf title will be started, was a welcome one for the handful of Americans, who passed through the tempestuous qualifying round Monday and Tuesday.

The small group spent today in resting up for the rigorous 72-hole play on Thursday and Friday.

Gene Sarazen, the American open champion, maintained a brave, smiling appearance despite his overwhelming disappointment at failing to squeeze through the qualifying round, by the narrow margin of one stroke.

"I'm glad Walter Hagen qualified," said Sarazen. "I'll be rooting for him."

Sarazen made no alibi, but his friends said he was annoyed by the rainy weather.

Hagen presented a thrilling picture as he fought with all his skill to be among the qualifiers. An immense throng followed him. He had just taken 41 for the out trip and friends warned him that it was necessary for him to come in with a 36 in order to qualify. Few in the large gallery thought Hagen had a chance. Then suddenly Hagen found himself and accomplished the seemingly impossible.

CHALLENGER RESUMES WORK

Shelby, Mont., June 13.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, was to get back into active training here today following a day's lay off while he hunted gophers. Five sparring partners are now ready for the Gibbons prepping. Kai Herman, middleweight, is carrying a lot of the burden, due to his speed. Spectators, however, declare Gibbons with his 185 pounds is faster than Herman at 152.

The roof over the ring at the Gibbons arena will be removed a week or so before July 4. Gibbons says he wants to absorb the heat and be ready for a scorching day when he meets Dempsey. The sun here blazes with no small enthusiasm during the day time.

The second payment of $100,000 by promoters to Jack Kearns will be made Friday.

CHAMPION IS CONFIDENT.

By Ed W. Smith.
Great Falls, Mont., June 13.—"It may be a general surprise to the world, but the thing I would most like to do would be to hit him on the chin on July 4 and knock him into the same sort of a fit that I knocked Carpenter. Whether I can do it or not is a sort of question that I can't answer."

That was the very frank statement made to me by Jack Dempsey. He amplified the statement a little as his copper-colored face lighted up with the excitement of the situation and what he had to say.

"I am not so extremely confident that I will be able to whip Mr. Gibbons in a round or so. I would rather not have any of the betting men who are so sure of me to place their money that way. Now I have heard a lot of them say that I am not fit and ready, that he is, and that this is the time I am going to get mine."

"Of course I do not think so, but at the same time this is going to be a whale of a battle. I really believe Gibbons probably will be a leader up to the time I put over the winning punch. But he is not going to be an easy man to hit by any means."

There's a Reason

THE MISFIT

By Jane Phelps

NATALIE INVITES DISASTER Chapter XX

The luncheon over, Mrs. Crandell and Beverly went to some charitable affair. They had not invited Natalie, and although she did not want to go, the slight hurt her.

"They think I disgrace them—that I'm a misfit—a cabbage," she muttered. "Beverly Rainsford is a rose—but I'll show them!" She had been meek and quiet so long they supposed she would go on that way.

Natalie went to the telephone, called Craig Harper and made an appointment to take tea with him the following day. She felt better. She had asserted herself, also she would find out if he cared for Beverly Rainsford.

What Beverly's feelings were she cared nothing. That her blush had been caused because it was Horace's mother who had spoken to her about marrying—that she had blushed because of that, and the knowledge that she loved Horace Crandell, had thought he cared for her until he married Natalie—Horace's wife had no way of knowing. Natalie had heard no gossip, she wasn't admitted to the confidence of the circle who talked of each other. She never had heard that Beverly's name had been linked with that of Horace. In fact, she never had heard anything about him. He had wooed and won her. She loved him. It was the Alpha and Omega.

That night she, Horace and his mother went to the theater. It was late when they returned and she had to bring up her failure to be in time for dinner the night before. Horace was in one of his tender, loving moods, why bring up anything unpleasant? So she let slip the chance to tell him that she had had tea with Craig Harper, had lingered over it until late.

That afternoon she met Craig at the Ritz. In the crystal room they had tea. Natalie, scarcely knowing how to approach the subject, spoke of Beverly Rainsford having lunch with them the day before, then said:

"And by the way, Mrs. Crandell disposed of you."

"Disposed of me, how?"

"To Beverly Rainsford."

"Kind of her, I am sure."

"It isn't true, then?"

"What if it were?"

"Oh, nothing, I just wondered, that was all."

"But you didn't care?" His words were light, but his eyes said more than Natalie cared to see.

"Me—why—should I—an old married woman?"

"Of course you wouldn't, Natalie."

It was the first time he had called her by that name.

"Come, be nice and tell me if it is true?" She was determined to know.

"No, it isn't! I admire Beverly, have known her for years. In a way I am fond of her, but she never cared for anyone but Horace—not in that way."

"Horace?" There was amazement in Natalie's voice—and something else, something very much like dawning jealousy.

"Have I told you a secret? I thought everyone knew it."

"Well, he didn't care for her, evidently."

Natalie spoke as if that ended the matter as far as Horace was concerned. And why not? Anyone would marry Horace Crandell if he cared enough to ask them.

"They were great chums once, Mrs. Crandell even, jealous as she is of Horace, would have been pleased, I think, had they married."

Natalie was learning a lot. Mrs. Crandell jealous of Horace! That never had entered her mind—it accounted for a good many things. And she did like Beverly, showed it plainly. So Horace and that girl, one of his own set, had been great chums—her thoughts ran on.

"Why so squibbly?" Craig asked.

"Have I said something I shouldn't?"

"No, indeed!" Natalie was eager for more gossip.

"Are you satisfied that I am—not to be disposed of, even by your aristocratic mother-in-law?"

"Of course I am, if you say so," Natalie returned.

"Remember, Natalie," again he spoke her name. "I am heart whole and fancy free—was until I met you, you beauty."

"Come, it is time we went," Natalie spoke quickly, flushing. She was glad there was nothing between Craig Harper and Beverly Rainsford. But what he had said about Horace lingered.

GOVERNMENT IS GIVEN JOLT IN PATENTS CASE

Reversal Shown By Frank Polk Former American Official

WITNESS NOT DUPED

Muscle Shoals Project Reported Obstructed at the Trial

Wilmington, Del., June 13.—The government's suit to recover 5,000 patents valued at $100,000,000 from the Chemical Foundation, received a jolt here when Frank L. Polk, former under-secretary of state, declared that he was familiar with the projected sale at the time he signed executive order authorizing it. Government attorneys were amazed at this reversal.

The government's case had been based largely on the contention that Polk had been duped and misled by the dye interests into signing the order. Assistant Attorney General Anderson declared that Polk had previously said he could not recall the circumstances under which he signed the order and that it was probably signed as a formal matter. Anderson also said that John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, was present at the time Polk professed a lack of knowledge on the signing.

Polk came in for a severe grilling and cross-examination directed by Anderson. The former under-secretary of state admitted that he had not seen the charter of the Chemical Foundation at the time the order was signed, but that he understood it was designed to protect American dye and chemical industries.

Anderson then advanced the contention that Polk, after looking up correspondence on the subject, was able to recall the circumstances connected with the signing, the government was not bound by his testimony. He also attacked Polk's testimony on the grounds that Polk had stated that he understood that the United States would have first license to operate under any of the patents.

It has been shown at the trial that the Chemical Foundation obstructed the Muscle Shoals project by its refusal to grant a license for nitrate manufacture under one of the patents it holds. Documentary evidence has also been presented to show that the military establishment sought control of the nitrate patents for national defense and four times the amount the Chemical Foundation paid for the patents had been offered by the army.

DECLARES AMERICA FACES AGRICULTURAL SUICIDE IN HANDS

Emigration From Farm Deplored By Senator Caraway of Arkansas

Washington, June 13.—America is facing agricultural suicide as a result of the loss of man power on her farms, Senator T. H. Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, declared today in urging governmental action to remedy the situation.

Unless the emigration from farms is stopped, Caraway warned, the nation will face a "stunning food shortage" within five years. He asserted he would sponsor remedial legislation in the next Congress.

"Fully five million persons will leave the farms this summer to find new places in the cities," Caraway said. "More than three million emigrated from the farms last year. Every one who has gone from the farm to city is a magnet drawing hundreds of others. Unless this emigration is halted, there will be stunning food shortages within five years and our farms will be idle."

Caraway proposed two legislative remedies for the situation:

- 1—Admit sufficient immigrants to settle and operate all farms; or
- 2—Provide a living wage for farm workers insuring them an adequate compensation for their products.

BALDWIN AT ISSUE WITH POINCARE ON GERMAN QUESTION

Will Not Ask Germany to Cease Passive Resistance

London, June 13.—Premier Poincare notified the British foreign office that he would not join an allied conference until Germany agreed to cease its passive resistance policy in the Ruhr.

Premier Baldwin has notified the French premier that he believes the German offer should be increased, but that there should be an examination of Germany's capacity to pay before the proposed allied conference decides upon the amount of the reparations.

A foreign office official said: "While the premier and Lord Curzon will do all in their power to effect a compromise the British government never will consent to ask Germany to abandon her passive resistance."

Great Britain, it was declared, was out for a sane settlement, along business lines. Premier Baldwin is anxious, however, to avert the calamity of an open break with France, and is exerting all his influence to bring Germany and France together. If nothing comes of the present move, the press and publicists of Great Britain believe that the prime minister acting in concert with Premier Mussolini of Italy, will negotiate directly with Germany for a settlement.

LARGEST CURB FIRM GOES TO WALL

William R. Jones Jackson B. Sells

Thirty-five millions in accounts and capital were involved in the failure of the New York Curb Exchange firm of Jones and Baker, of which William R. Jones and Jackson B. Sells were heads. The concern had branches in seven of America's principal cities, and its voluntary bankruptcy petition caused widespread consternation, for it did one of the largest brokerage businesses in the country. Jones, a former protégé of Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants baseball club, and is a close friend also of Judge McQuade and many influential politicians. The failure of the firm followed closely publication in the New York American that its affairs were under investigation.

HUGHES ASKED TO DEMAND THAT CHINA ACT TO END CONDITION

Shanghai, June 13.—The American Association of China and the American Chamber of Commerce following a meeting today united in cabling Secretary of State Hughes a demand that the United States government act to end "intolerable conditions" existing in China. The message charged that the situation was brought about by Washington's failure to act aggressively in the present crisis.

American lives are being endangered and business prestige destroyed by "lack of strong action" the message declared, outlining a series of drastic steps which were urged upon Secretary Hughes for imposition in China.

"We urge action along the following lines until a strong and satisfactory government is functioning in China":

- 1—Suspension of all benefits to China under the Washington conference.
- 2—Disarmament, or troops returned to their homes.
- 3—Place Chinese finance under foreign supervision and place foreign guards on the lines of communication, both land and water.
- 4—Foreign garrisons at strategic points throughout China.
- 5—Suspension of return of boxer indemnity.

Gary, Ind., June 13.—Badly mutilated, the body of a woman about 35 years old was taken from the lake near here early today. The body was well dressed, but neither color nor hair was found. Labels in her shoes showed them to have been purchased from "Fyfer, Detroit, Mich." She wore a plain gold wedding ring and a small silver ring.

Hasty examination showed all teeth knocked out, the face discolored by bruises and evidences of a skull fracture. Police expressed the belief the woman was murdered and thrown into the lake.

FOREIGN SHIPS MUST OBSERVE U. S. DRY LAWS

Crews Will Not Be Permitted to Have Liquor in American Waters

TREASURY RULES

Instructions Are Issued To Medical Officers By Government

Washington, June 13.—Treasury department officials made it clear that they would not countenance any evasion of the ship liquor regulations to meet the wine rations issue involved under the French, Spanish and Italian maritime laws.

Public health service physicians, it was emphatically stated, would not be permitted to authorize wine for the crews under the medicinal liquor exemptions provided in the regulations. This announcement came in answer to a report from New York that Prohibition Director Canfield had suggested this as a way out of the wine ration situation.

For five weeks the treasury heads entrusted with the handling of the ship liquor problem debated this wine ration question, but were unable to find any way out to avoid the conflict with the foreign ship laws that this phase of the dry ship ruling has precipitated. The result is that the crews must go wineless while in American waters and when they leave American ports.

Special instructions issued public health service physicians by Dr. M. J. White, acting surgeon general of the service, direct that the medical officers exercise the utmost discretion with respect to the quantity of liquor to be authorized to be purchased by masters of foreign vessels. This matter, the instructions state, is one which must of necessity be decided upon its merits by the medical officer at the time of issuance of the certificate of medicinal need.

The owner of the vessel applying for a permit to purchase medicinal liquor must make his application under oath. Only medical officers in charge of marine hospitals or relief stations of the public health service are permitted to issue these permits.

Congress will be asked to deal with the difficult problem facing the American government as a result of the ruling by the supreme court on ship liquor. It was stated authoritatively at the White House following cabinet meeting.

President Harding, it was learned, believes that congress never intended to compel the executive branch of the government to deal with the situation created by the court's opinion that foreign vessels entering the three mile limit may not transport liquor for beverage purposes. On the other hand, with the law and the ruling both made, the president feels that the executive has no choice but to enforce to the limit regulations carrying out the action of congress and the opinion of the supreme court.

RE-ISSUING OF OLD FILMS RAPPED

Washington, June 13.—The Federal Trade Commission took another rap today at motion picture companies which re-issue old films under new names.

An order to cease and desist from such practices was issued against the Fox Film Corporation of New York. The commission said the Fox corporation had "furnished to exhibitors three re-issued picture films bearing titles different from those used at the time such pictures were first shown to the public, and that the advertising material in the exploitation of the pictures did not disclose in any way that they had previously been shown under another title."

In putting out old films, the commission said companies should state in their advertising posters and contracts that the film was re-issued, and that the original name should be given.

INSANITY PLEA WINS FREEDOM

Cincinnati, June 13.—"Not guilty, on the sole ground of insanity," was the verdict returned last night in the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court by the jury hearing the first degree murder case against Charles Baldwin of Bellevue, Ky.

The jury, which included five women, deliberated for five hours. Its verdict means that Baldwin will be examined in probate court by alienists and if found to be insane at present will be sent to the Lima State Hospital for Criminal Insane.

Baldwin testified at the trial that he killed Louis Hameck, a fellow worker at a factory, because the latter had abused him daily and made him the "company goat."

LEGION OPPOSES DEBS' APPEARANCE

Cincinnati, June 13.—Protest against the proposed lecture of Eugene V. Debs, former convict and socialist leader, at Music Hall, June 1, was filed last night when the Robert E. Bentley Post of the American Legion passed resolutions against the proposed meeting and called on those in authority to deny the use of Music Hall to Debs "on the ground that he is un-American."

Interest entered on the action to be taken, and when resolutions by Robert W. Smith and Gilbert Bettman were presented the vote was unanimous in their favor.

TIP PROVES TRUE

Cincinnati, O., June 13.—Acting on an anonymous telephone message detectives yesterday afternoon raided a garage at 119-121 West Twelfth street, where they confiscated whiskey and grain alcohol valued at more than $10,000 at "bootleg" prices. A man registered as Fred Von Der Ahe, 31, years of age, 3445 Harvey Avenue, proprietor of the garage, was arrested charged with having possessed liquor.

Rail Labor Board Not Likely to Survive

Samuel Rea

Open defiance of the Railroad Labor Board by the Pennsylvania Railroad, coupled with the fact that the Board apparently has accepted this defiance in meekness and humility, has led official Washington to believe that the Board cannot endure much longer. The official execution, according to plans now being perfected by its enemies, will take place soon after the new Congress convenes. Labor is better because of the manner in which the Board has accepted the flat refusal of Samuel Rea, Pennsylvania president, to abide by that body's decisions, and its spokesmen have pointed out that when rail shippers refused last year to accept an award lowering their wages the Board branded the shippers' organizations as "outlaws."

NEARLY 1,500 END COLLEGE WORK AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Forty-sixth Annual Commencement Is Held On Tuesday.

Columbus, June 13.—A clear bugle call echoed through the Coliseum yesterday. In the brass note resounding from the stone 1430 students heard the last echo of university life.

The bugle call marked the end of the forty-sixth annual commencement exercises of Ohio State University, at which the largest class of students in the history of the institution received degrees.

Crowds of spectators, about 6000 in all, attended the exercises. On the great stage, surrounded by flowers, were seated Governor Donahay, President Thompson, the deans of the 10 colleges and of the graduate school, administrative officers of the university and the principal speaker of the day, Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

Upon another stage, in the arena, were the graduates, clad in the conventional caps and gowns. Only the brilliant tassels, of varied colors, distinguished one college group from another.

Lieutenant Colonel Charles F. Leonard, led the traditional procession, which began at 10 o'clock. President Thompson, President Coffman, Governor Donahay and the members of the faculty followed.

When the various honors had been bestowed and the degrees granted, President Thompson called upon former Governor James E. Campbell to arise from his seat on the platform. President Thompson then read a commendation of Mr. Campbell of his record as a soldier, governor, citizen and friend, and especially as a benefactor of Ohio State.

Awards of honor made yesterday are: Robert F. Wolfe journalism medal to Karl B. Pauly; Vandewater poetry prize to Dorothy M. Reid; Chi Omega prize to Anna M. Murray; Colonel John Gordon Rattelle prize to Samuel H. Ruggles; Delta Sigma Pi scholarship prize to Ralph E. Hickey; Bingham memorial award to Florence L. Eberhard.

PRESIDENT OF CHINA FORCED TO FLEE CITY

Departure of Li Yuan Hung Follows Strong Threat

FENG IN CONTROL

Flight Is Second Abdication Since Year 1916.

Peking, June 13.—Withstanding until noon today the military pressure that has been brought to bear to force his resignation, President Li Yuan Hung at 1:20 this afternoon departed on a special train for Tien Tsin accompanied only by the vice minister of war, one other member of his old cabinet and 20 soldiers as a guard.

His departure was preceded by a strong threat from the Christian general Feng Jui-Siang who requested his immediate departure from Peking.

Complete occupation of the city by General Feng's troops is expected at any moment. The city remains quiet.

The flight of President Li Yuan Hung from Peking marks his second forced abdication as president at the hands of the Chinese military since he succeeded to the presidency in 1916, when President Yuan Shih-Kai died. A few months later, Chang Hsun, through a military coup, seized the capital, forced Li to flee to Tien Tsin and restored the "boy emperor" to the throne. A week later this movement failed but Li remained in retirement until last year when General Wu Pei Fu after defeating Chang Tso-Lin's effort to seize the capital proposed a return to "constitutional government."

Li resumed his old office, reconvened the old parliament and set about curbing the militarists. Quickly friction developed and cabinet after cabinet resigned. Finally came the Shanghai bandit outrage, the police strike and finally the entrance of General Feng's troops to Peking. Repeatedly Li appealed to foreign diplomats for advice but was told the foreign powers would not interfere in China's domestic affairs.

THREE MEALS COST UNCLE SAM BUT TWENTY SEVEN CENTS

Washington, June 13.—Three good, square meals, week in and week out, at a total cost of 27 cents a day—that is the fare of the doughboys in Uncle Sam's Army.

While the American housewife has been struggling fearfully to make her weekly budget produce an adequate breakfast, dinner and supper, the quartermaster corps has succeeded in bringing the army ration allowance down to a figure actually lower than pre-war days. It was learned today.

While the housewife has been paying from 40 to 100 per cent more for her meats, bread and vegetables than she did in 1913, the army is able to set a whole day's table for only 3.6 cents more than was the cost in 1913.

The 1923 ration allowance just perfected is the lowest in eight years. Cost per ration of feeding the army for the past ten years, in cents, is as follows:

1913, 23.4; 1914, 24; 1915, 25; 1916, 28; 1917, 33 1/2; 1918, 48.2; 1919, 49.8; 1920, 54; 1921, 47; 1922, 32.8 and 1923, 27.

In addition to making the inherent thrift of the American housewife appear futile, the United States ration is better than that of other nations. Taking into consideration the fluctuation and instability of foreign currency and exchange, a fair estimate of the cost of feeding each man in the allied armies is as follows:

Italy 50 cents; Great Britain 45 cents; France 33 cents and Japan with its rice diet from 21 to 41 cents, dependent upon the location of the troops.

The quartermaster corps is able to feed the doughboys at nine cents a meal for three reasons: It buys only at the height of the season; it buys only where the production is greatest and it discounts all bills.

While 27 cents wouldn't buy the average Mr. Citizen much more than two sandwiches and a cup of coffee, the soldier gets his in courses, almost literally, from "soup to nuts."

Here is a fair sample of the daily army camp menu picked at random:

Breakfast: Corn flakes and milk, stewed potatoes, fried bologna, butter-toast or bread, and coffee.

Dinner: Roast beef and sage dressing, boiled potatoes, brown gravy, creamed carrots, bread, coffee and bread pudding, with lemon sauce.

Supper: Beef stew, with vegetables, fried potatoes, bread, coffee and stewed peaches.

No menu is repeated within a week, and, unlike boarding house style, the menu does not even rotate on a weekly basis.

What Business Owes to the Christian College

Chief Justice Taft on his return to America from four years' service as Director-General of the Philippines said that American business owes its opportunity to develop the resources of the Orient to Christian Missionaries who first blazed the trail and helped create those conditions which make it safe to do business there.

Roger Babson, the Statistical Expert, says: "The need of the hour is not more factories or materials, not more railroads, steamships, not more armies or navies, but rather more education based on the plain teaching of Jesus.

"I say this because we shall probably never live to see America attacked from without, but we may at any time see our best institutions attacked from within. —Yes, the safety of our Nation including all groups depends on Christian Education."

What Has Ohio Wesleyan Done To Merit Your Financial Support

Ohio Wesleyan is rich, not in buildings and endowments, but in men and women that she has sent into these many fields of useful endeavor.

1 Vice President	200 Journalists	400 University Deans and Professors
9 Governors	404 Lawyers	200 High School Principals
12 U. S. Congressmen	721 Physicians	1200 Teachers—Grade and High Schools
15 Foreign Ambassadors	1485 Business Men	9 Methodist Bishops
228 Government Service	30 College Presidents	300 Foreign Missionaries
	1000 Ministers of the Gospel

Who can place a money value on the accomplishments of these Alumni and who can estimate their priceless worth in business, in the various professions, in statesmanship, in Christian Ministry, and in all forms of social, philanthropic and missionary service?

The Best Investment You Can Make

This type of human service has not given many of them an opportunity to acquire wealth, but in turn, they have done the kind of work in the World that makes it possible for others to acquire it.

That is why a Christian College like Ohio Wesleyan must depend upon sources of wealth outside of her immediate constituency.

That is why Ohio Wesleyan must appeal today to business men and women to invest their dollars in this great school that for 80 years has combined education with character building, to produce higher business credit, greater economic savings, and a finer type of citizenship.

Styles BY LENORE

Everybody wears something "printed," but very few models have the charm and spirit of youth of these little frocks. Both are designed on the simplest of lines, all their beauty being derived from the delightful character of the material and the not at all complicated but exceedingly clever treatment with silk in solid color.

Blue being the predominating color of the design at the right, solid blue is used for the sharp-pointed panels on the skirt, the same idea suggested on the sleeves. In the lower frock the deep triangular pockets, which flare gracefully above the slender ribbon belt, are of cerise taffeta, made ingeniously ornamental by applique of the small motif which figures in the pattern of the silk. Of course these designs may be carried out in cottons, printed or plain, with contrasting color for trimming.

PAVING WORK WILL BE COMPLETED IN SHORT TIME NOW

If good weather favors workmen employed by the Republic Asphalt Company on the North Detroit Street paving job, the work should be finished by the first of next week, according to City Manager S. O. Hale.

Workmen are now on the last leg of the distance, laying and rolling the top coat of asphalt. The west side of the street was finished last fall and the east side section, of the newly paved section, an entrance way into Fairground Avenue, connecting with the original North Detroit street paving, is also being laid.

In addition to this finishing work, the company has to relay a section on the north end of the west side, which has been torn up. The top coat was put on last fall when the weather was unfavorable and could not be rolled properly. This spring the top coat at that section was torn up for a distance of about 500 feet and a new top asphalt layer will be put down when workmen have completed the east side of the street.

Intentions of the paving company to continue the laying of the stone road along the right of way of the Springfield and Xenia Traction Company, which has been moved to the center of the street, along the paved section, were frustrated when the workmen ran out of stone.

Large sized crushed stone is being laid as a base between the car rails, and smaller stone on top. Part of this top layer has been applied when the workmen ran out of material, and this work will have to be finished before the street is turned over to the city.

After the small stone is rolled, a bituminous binder material will be added to the top coat, giving the roadway between the tracks the same substances as bituminous macadam road.

The paving line at Fairground Avenue, operation line at the old car line, where the brick paving ends, to the new north corporation line and covers practically the entire distance to the Xenia Country Club. The new paving also increases the appearance of this entrance to the city.

HOPE TO COMPLETE WORK THIS WEEK

If the weather will permit, workmen for the Loyd Contracting Company, who are establishing sewer and water accommodations in the first tract of the Dodds Addition will complete their work this week.

Completion will mean that sewer and water lines are established along all streets in the initial subdivision, first plat, accepted by the city when the Dodd addition was opened up, and that these utilities are now available for prospective builders in that section of the city.

The work was done by the city on receipt of a petition signed by practically every lot owner in the district asking for the improvements. Addition of water and sewer connections is expected to be a stimulus to building in the subdivision, lot owners having declared they would not attempt to build until the utilities were available.

SOME BIRD AT LEAST THAT'S WHAT SHERIFF MORRIS SHARP SAYS

Sheriff Morris Sharp has added a stuffed pheasant to the menagerie of taxidermy he is establishing in his office in the Court House.

Recently Sheriff Sharp brought a huge stuffed eagle to the office and used it for decorative purposes on top of the office safe. The eagle was shot in Fayette County some time ago and mounted.

Monday he was made the gift of the mounted pheasant presented him by Fred Chaney, of near Jamestown, who killed and stuffed the bird himself. The pheasant has been posed on the safe so that he keeps a wary eye on his well-known enemy, the eagle.

BURGER NAMED SECRETARY OF PLAY

Coach Earl Burger, director of athletics and teacher of chemistry at Central High School during the last school year has been made executive secretary of the Community Recreation Association in general charge of all playgrounds to be established here this summer.

While the executive secretary will have general charge of the playground work, directing supervised activities at all centers, there will be subsidiary leaders in charge of each of the playgrounds. Thus a paid leader will be assigned to the Willowtree Playground and surrounding territory, another will be assigned to the Orient Hill School playground and as soon as park locations can be obtained in the north and west sections there will be paid leaders for each.

The East Community Service Association is planning to open playgrounds as soon as possible and they will also be in charge of paid leaders.

WEEDS MUST BE CUT IN THE CITY

Have weeds, growing on your premises, been cut?

This duty will have to be performed at once under an order from the City Department of Health, which will be enforced immediately under Sanitary Policeman H. L. Karch.

The Health Department is assuming the burden of seeing that weeds are cut this year in place of the Police Department which has enforced this city ordinance in the past. Health officials say that high weeds are breeding places for dirt, filth and germs besides being unsightly.

Empty lots and alleys are included in the order to cut weeds.

GREENE COUNTIANS RECEIVE DEGREES FROM WESLEYAN

Delaware, June 13.—Miss Dorothy Mary Faulkner, near Xenia, received her bachelor of arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University at the seventy-ninth annual commencement exercises held here this morning. Miss Juanita Milred Bullock, Jamestown, is another Greene county student graduating this year from Ohio Wesleyan.

President John W. Hoffman of Ohio Wesleyan, presided at the exercises and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Euston, delivered the commencement address, the occasion being the thirty-fourth anniversary of his own graduation from Ohio Wesleyan. The exercises this morning brought to a conclusion over four days of graduation festivities featured by the presentation of a pageant "The Pioneers of Prophecy" written and acted by students of the university; an open air production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" by the Ohio Wesleyan Historic Club; the annual luncheon and reunions of many classes.

The graduating class was composed of nearly 300 students from 27 states and 6 foreign countries. Students from 122 Ohio towns and cities were included. The states represented by this year's graduating class are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. The Chinese lead among the foreign students with 6 graduates while Korea is represented by 4, Algeria, France, Japan and South America are also represented.

LOCAL MAN IS AWARDED HONOR

Hugh McFadden of this city was elected a trustee of the Military Order of the Serpent, an organization affiliated with the Spanish War Veterans at the state convention of the latter with its women's auxiliary at Cedar Point, Tuesday.

Members of the Military Order of the Serpent paraded the streets of Sandusky Tuesday evening attired as Philippine head hunters. The annual parade of the veterans was held at Cedar Point Tuesday afternoon with more than 1,000 in line. Former Governor Harry L. Davis and Carmi Thompson of Cleveland were speakers at Tuesday's sessions.

The election of the local man to office in the Military Order of the Serpent took place at the annual election of officers of that organization, Tuesday.

AMERICAN GOLFERS FAIL TO QUALIFY IN BRITISH MEET

STRANGELY, DEMPSEY EXPECTS TO WIN

"ZERO" HOUR FOR TOURNEY NEAR.

Troon, Scotland, June 13.—The day before the "zero" hour, when competition for the coveted British open golf title will be started, was a welcome one for the handful of Americans, who passed through the tempestuous qualifying round Monday and Tuesday.

The small group spent today in resting up for the rigorous 72-hole play on Thursday and Friday.

Gene Sarazen, the American open champion, maintained a brave, smiling appearance despite his overwhelming disappointment at failing to squeeze through the qualifying round, by the narrow margin of one stroke.

"I'm glad Walter Hagen qualified," said Sarazen. "I'll be rooting for him."

Sarazen made no alibis, but his friends said he was annoyed by the rainy weather.

Hagen presented a thrilling picture as he fought with all his skill to be among the qualifiers. An immense throng followed him. He had just taken 41 for the out trip and friends warned him that it was necessary for him to come in with a 36 in order to qualify. Few in the large gallery thought Hagen had a chance. Then suddenly Hagen found himself and accomplished the seemingly impossible.

CHALLENGER RESUMES WORK
Shelby, Mont., June 13.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, was to get back into active training here today following a day's lay off while he hunted gophers. Five sparring partners are now ready for the Gibbons prepping. Kai Herman, middleweight, is carrying a lot of the burden, due to his speed. Spectators, however, declare Gibbons with his 185 pounds is faster than Herman at 152.

The roof over the ring at the Gibbons arena will be removed a week or so before July 4. Gibbons says he wants to absorb the heat and be ready for a scorching day when he meets Dempsey. The sun here blazes with no small enthusiasm during the day time.

The second payment of $100,000 by promoters to Jack Kearns will be made Friday.

CHAMPION IS CONFIDENT.

By Ed W. Smith.

Great Falls, Mont., June 13.—"It may be a general surprise to the world, but the thing I would most like to do would be to hit him on the chin on July 4 and knock him in, the same sort of a fit that I knocked Carpenter. Whether I can do it or not is a sort of question that I can't answer."

That was the very frank statement made to me by Jack Dempsey. He amplified the statement a little as his copper-colored face lighted up with the excitement of the situation and what he had to say.

"I am not so extremely confident that I will be able to whip Mr. Gibbons in a round or so. I would rather not have any of the betting men who are so sure of me to place their money that way. Now I have heard a lot of them say that I am not fit and ready, that he is, and that this is the time I am going to get mine."

"Of course I do not think so, but at the same time this is going to be a whale of a battle. I really believe Gibbons probably will be a leader up to the time I put over the winning punch. But he is not going to be an easy man to hit by any means."

There's a Reason

THE MISFIT

By Jane Phelps

NATALIE INVITES DISASTER Chapter XX

The luncheon over, Mrs. Crandell and Beverly went to some charitable affair. They had not invited Natalie, and although she did not want to go, the slight hurt her.

"They think I disgrace them—that I'm a misfit—a cabbage," she muttered. "Beverly Rainsford is a rose—but I'll show them!" She had been meek and quiet so long they supposed she would go on that way.

Natalie went to the telephone, called Craig Harper and made an appointment to take tea with him the following day. She felt better. She had asserted herself, also she would find out if he cared for Beverly Rainsford. What Beverly's feelings were she cared nothing. That her blush had been caused because it was Horace's mother who had spoken to her about marrying—that she had blushed because of that, and the knowledge that she loved Horace Crandell, had thought he cared for her until he married Natalie—Horace's wife had no way of knowing, Natalie had heard no gossip, she wasn't admitted to the confidence of the circle who talked of each other. She never had heard that Beverly's name had been linked with that of Horace. In fact, she never had heard anything about him. He had wooed and won her. She loved him. It was the Alpha and Omega.

That night she, Horace and his mother went to the theater. It was late when they returned and she hated to bring up her failure to be in time for dinner the night before. Horace was in one of his tender, loving moods, why bring up anything unpleasant? So she let slip the chance to tell him that she had had tea with Craig Harper, had lingered over it all till late.

That afternoon she met Craig at the Ritz. In the crystal room they had tea. Natalie, scarcely knowing how to approach the subject, spoke of Beverly Rainsford having lunch with them the day before, then said: "And by the way, Mrs. Crandell disposed of you."

"Disposed of me, how?" "To Beverly Rainsford."

"Kind of her, I am sure."

"It isn't true, then?"

"What if it were?"

"Oh, nothing, I just wondered, that was all."

"But you didn't care?" His words were light, but his eyes said more than Natalie cared to see.

"Me—why—should I—an old married woman?"

"Of course you wouldn't, Natalie. It was the first time he had called her by that name."

"Come, be nice and tell me if it is true?" She was determined to know.

"No, it isn't! I admire Beverly, have known her for years. In a way I am fond of her, but she never cared for anyone but Horace—not in that way."

"Horace?" There was amazement in Natalie's voice—and something else, something very much like dawning jealousy.

"Have I told you a secret? I thought everyone knew it."

"Well, he didn't care for her, evidently."

Natalie spoke as if that ended the matter as far as Horace was concerned. And why not? Anyone would marry Horace Crandell if he cared enough to ask them.

"They were great chums once, Mrs. Crandell even, jealous as she is of Horace, would have been pleased, I think, had they married."

Natalie was learning a lot. Mrs. Crandell jealous of Horace! That never had entered her mind—it accounted for a good many things. And she did like Beverly, showed it plainly. So Horace and that girl, one of his own set, had been great chums—her thoughts ran on.

"Why so skeptical?" Craig asked.

"Have I said something I shouldn't?"

"No, indeed!" Natalie was eager for more gossip.

"Are you satisfied that I am—not to be disposed of, even by your aristocratic mother-in-law?"

"Of course I am, if you say so," Natalie returned.

"Remember, Natalie," again he spoke her name. "I am heart whole and fancy free—was until I met you, you beauty."

"Come, it is time we went," Natalie spoke quickly, flushing. She was glad there was nothing between Craig Harper and Beverly Rainsford. But what he had said about Horace lingered.
